Catamaran specialist Silent Yachts has announced a collaboration with Nuvolari Lenard on a new generation of solar yachts. The first model is still on the drawing board with launch expected in 2026.

The Italian studio will also be designing every sub-24-metre vessel for the shipyard – which is based in Fano, Italy – going forward.

"The design studio's architectural sensitivity will bring a refined elegance to Silent Yachts, bridging form and function in harmony," said Silent Yachts CEO, Fabrizio Iarrera. "The goal is to enhance not just the aesthetics but also the overall onboard experience."

"Nuvolari Lenard brings the same passion and attention to detail to both superyachts and smaller semi-custom yachts, always maintaining our signature style," added co-founders Carlo Nuvolari and Dan Lenard in a statement. "We are excited to be working with Silent Yachts, who share our values of innovation, sustainability, and a commitment to pushing boundaries."

Nuvolari Lenard is known for its work on the 106.7-metre Black Pearl – the world's second-largest sailing yacht – as well as big Lürssen builds Kismet and the 141.6-metre Nord.
